

U.S. Ski & Snowboard Alpine Masters Eastern Championships

Sponsored by Phillips 66

Phillips 66 US ALPINE MASTERS EASTERN CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2019 Phillips 66 Alpine Masters Eastern Championships will be held on January 24-27, 2019 at Stratton Mountain VT. Stratton Mountain Resort is one of New England's premier racing venues and has produced scores of U.S. Ski Team athletes over the years, with athletes on the U.S. Olympic Alpine Team in eleven out of the last twelve winter games!

The Stratton races are some of the most popular races on the New England Masters circuit each year, and for good reason. From the varying and challenging terrain to the world class course sets with seemingly endless views of the Green Mountains, the Stratton races are a can't miss. Oh, and let's not forget about the amazing after-parties and après scene!

All races will take place on Frank's Fall Line where racers will be challenged from start to finish with speed, rolls, and masters friendly terrain. There is a mid-mountain lodge located at the base of the trail where racers can leave gear, eat lunch or just relax while watching fellow racers from the comfort of the lodge with an unobstructed view of the course.

SCHEDULE

Thursday, Jan. 24, 2019	SG training
Friday, Jan. 25, 2019	SG race x 2	National Speed Series
Saturday, Jan. 26, 2019	GS race	Janeway Memorial
Sunday, Jan. 27, 2019	SL race

Schedule subject to change

Both SG races will count for the 2019 Phillips 66 National Speed Series. All four races will be included in the New England Masters Sise Cup scoring. The GS race will also count for the Janeway Cup, which is one of the oldest cups in NEMS history and is awarded to the fastest man and women over the age of 40.

The Eastern Championships team is awarded to the top finisher in each age class based on total points accumulated in the four events SL-GS-SGx2 using the "old World Cup" points scoring system. Competitors must start in three of the four races to be eligible for the Eastern Champions team.

ENTRIES AND REGISTRATION

Registration online at www.skiracereg.com/nems in the New England Masters race series.

You must have a current US Ski and Snowboard Masters membership to compete in regional and national championship events. Competitors may participate under a daily short-term US Ski and Snowboard membership, but are not eligible for the regional championship team awards.
